

Born to Lie

When i was a boy they said “son now don’t you lie” I learned to do it while looking in their eyes my daddy said “you fool, don’t you know the truth will set you free?” oh my lord, well, that don’t mean shit to me cuz i hurt so many from the first day out the womb and i’ll hurt so many more until they put me in my tomb wipe away your tears, i don’t care if i made you cry haven’t you figured out by now i was born to lie when i was a boy, they said “now go confess your sins” i went up to a priest and i told him what i did he said “god have mercy ten hail mary’s on your knees” i threw away all of my rosaries

and i’ll hurt so many more until they put me in my tomb
haven’t you figured out by now i was born to lie

i was born to lie well, i know i could repent and my god will forgive but no regrets is how i motherfuckin’ live well, when i’m at the gates, being judged for what i’ve done i know my time in hell has come

cuz i was born to lie
